Subject: UPDATE - Review of San Jacinto River Waste Pits Superfund Site cleanup documents
Date: 11/06/2012 02:38 PM

Dear San Jacinto River Community Members and Stakeholders-

The Galveston Bay Foundation (GBF) has updated our San Jacinto River Waste Pits Superfund Site webpage by adding Houston Advanced Research Center (HARC) reviews of the following San Jacinto River Waste Pits Superfund Site (SJRWPS) documents prepared by the potentially responsible parties (PRPs) for the U.S. EPA:

- May 2012 Exposure Assessment Memorandum
- May 2012 Toxicological and Epidemiological Studies Memorandum

Please visit the webpage and click on "Findings" or just scroll down to these reviews as well as the original documents.

These are the first two of many document reviews that HARC will complete in their role as an independent technical advisor to the public, hired by GBF through a grant from the U.S. EPA. As HARC completes their reviews of the documents, we will post them to the webpage and notify you.

GBF and HARC are also planning to host a public meeting in January 2013 to share our findings on the cleanup process, discuss how the Total Maximum Daily Load for Dioxin fits in with the SJRWPS cleanup project, seafood consumption advisories and molluscan shellfish (oyster/clam/mussel) harvesting areas, listen to your concerns and answer your questions. We also welcome your suggestions for agenda topics. We will post agenda details on the webpage and notify you when the meeting is set.

Please share this e-mail with your family, friends, and other members of the community and encourage them to contact me to be added to the mailing list. On the webpage, we have listed expert contacts for you, but please feel free to contact me if you have any questions.

Sincerely-

Scott A. Jones
